

ECU BAND DAY

Saturday October 29th, 2011

On behalf of East Carolina University and the ECU Marching Pirates, we would like to invite you to be a part of our 15th annual ECU Band Day. As part of Band Day festivities, you will get to know firsthand the excitement and fun of being a part of the ECU Marching Pirates by performing with us along with over 1000 high school band members at half-time during the ECU vs. Tulane Homecoming game on Saturday October 29th.

Band Day general information

You must be in 6th grade and up to participate in Band Day. You will be responsible for choreographing your own routines and may use multiple batons, auxiliary equipment etc. No fire batons allowed. We welcome you to march up the hill behind the Marching Pirates to the stadium after practice and join us at our Call to Port performance located outside the stadium prior to kick-off! This will also be our Homecoming weekend, so we would also invite you to watch the parade at 9:30am on 5th street!

Once registered, you will receive additional information regarding parking, music, practice times, and ticket information.

TO REGISTER:

Please go to www.ecu.edu/band and click on the "Band Day" tab. You should be able to register there. If not, please email Dr. John Franklin, director of athletic bands at franklinj@ecu.edu

2012 ECU Feature Twirler and Majorette Auditions

We will be holding auditions in Spring 2012 for feature twirler and positions for our first Pirate Twirler Line! Feature Twirlers: please send us a video audition tape prior to live auditions. Video may include field performances, competition performance, etc.

All twirlers: please fill out the "Request information" form located on the ECU Band website www.ecu.edu/band

If you have any questions about anything, please feel free to email:
